

Adam Grossman
President & CEO
ADMA Biologics Inc.

Mr. Grossman is a founder and President and Chief Executive Officer of ADMA Biologics Inc. Mr. Grossman has over 17 years of experience in the blood and plasma industry. Prior to founding ADMA, Mr. Grossman was the Executive Vice President of National Hospital Specialties, a biologics distribution firm focused on the marketing and sales of plasma derived and specialty pharmaceutical products and GenesisBPS, a multi-national medical device manufacturer and marketer focused on blood collection and processing technologies. He has experience in launching new products, building and managing national and international sales forces, managing clinical trials, and completing numerous business development transactions. Previously, he worked with Medimmune on marketing and sales teams for RSV and CMV hyper-immune globulins as well as with numerous other plasma derived biologics. Mr. Grossman received a B.S. in Business Administration, with a specialization in International Business and Marketing, from American University.