Morgan Lewis

Steve M. Cohen is a partner in, and co-manager of, Morgan Lewis's Emerging Business and Technology Practice. Mr. Cohen's practice focuses on advising emerging growth companies and private equity investors throughout the mid-Atlantic region. He has represented companies and investors in venture capital financings; issuers in IPOs and secondary public offerings, acquisitions, divestitures and mergers, joint ventures, and international strategic partnerships; and has provided general corporate and securities advice to publicly held corporations and limited partnerships.

Mr. Cohen assists life sciences, information technology, clean technology, consumer products, chemical and applied materials, and other companies in planning for and implementing growth strategies, including frequently making the introductions required to make deals happen.

Mr. Cohen is a member of the Board of Directors of the New Jersey Technology Council. He is a frequent speaker on obtaining financing for emerging growth companies and planning profitable exit strategies.

Mr. Cohen is admitted to practice in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.
