

BioNJ Committee Engagement Information and General Guidelines

Thank you so much for volunteering to be on a BioNJ Committee. The BioNJ Committee structure is an essential part of how we engage our community, educate our Members and help our Members help Patients.

Active participation from Committee volunteers is essential for the success of programs, tools and online communities developed through the Committees' efforts.

Below, you'll find information, guidelines, and expectations to enhance and enrich your engagement as you begin your role on a BioNJ Committee.

- Most BioNJ committees meet monthly for an hour or less over Zoom.
- Your opinion is valued and always considered. Your insights and contributions are encouraged and appreciated!
- We ask that you participate actively in at least half of the Committee meetings. Otherwise, you may be removed from the Committee to make room for others who are on a waitlist.
- We hope that you will promote programs, resources and any online communities within your professional networks.
- We ask that you consider supporting programs/events developed by the Committee through your registration or even company sponsorship.

Benefits of participating:

- Positioning yourself and your organization as a thought leader
- Access to valuable industry connections
- Opportunity to engage with subject matter experts
- First-hand exposure to trending topics in our industry
- The opportunity to make suggestions for speakers and topics for consideration

Thank you for being a valuable Member of our Committee! We are grateful for your time and dedication. Please let us know if you have any questions.
